Dear Friends...

You may have noted the news coverage last month of a letter that was sent by Archbishop Hebda to the priests of our archdiocese in which he counseled them not to vote in the primary election. At first I was startled to receive it, but I was persuaded by its prudent wisdom. Under the rules of primary election balloting in Minnesota, one can only cast a vote if he/she first identifies as a member of a political party. And while one's specific vote is not public information, the data about party affiliation is gathered and forwarded to leadership, who are able to make it as public as they choose to. Thus, it would be entirely possible that my name (and yours) could be disclosed as being a so-called "registered" Democrat or Republican merely for having shown up to vote. It was the archbishop's judgment, and indeed that of all the bishops of Minnesota, that this could compromise the ability of priests to minister effectively amid the communities they serve. Political tags, especially in these deeply divided days, often have the effect of driving wedges and animosity between people.

Our Catholic church is not beholden to one party or another, but is rather one of the few communities that can be an agent of unity rather than ideological warfare. Nor does the Church per-

Fr. J. Michael Byron
Pastor

se have any control over the definition of what it means to be a member of a specific party at a given moment in time. So there's a certain required sacrifice of some of our religious integrity by being forced to align with one party or another. Obviously the archbishop's letter could not have ordered me to stay home on primary day, but in fact I did not vote. (OK, full disclosure: I was away on vacation on primary day, out of state, and I had neglected to take care of getting an absentee ballot in advance). O happy fault.

Another American archbishop, Robert McElroy of San Diego, recently gave an important lecture in which he touched upon the responsibility that every Catholic voter has to be thoughtful and discerning in coming to the voting booth. Among his observations is that nobody votes for a party on election day; we vote for a candidate. And any candidate is bound to carry around a very mixed bag of positions and passions and policies, some of which may conform nicely with the gospel of Jesus Christ and others of which may be more nearly antithetical to it—all in the same person. It is a time-honored strategy for a politician to equate himself/herself with the ideals of both party and country, so as to create the impression that to vote one way or another is a test of loyalty to both institutions. But for a thoughtful Christian that's a trap for the reasons that Archbishop McElroy stated. The abstract ideals of the United States of America are, for the most part, honorable (if they were perfect, we wouldn't have amendments to our Constitution), but actual political leaders of all kinds frequently are not neatly conformed to them. And in the case of both major political parties, many of the ideals themselves are not honorable from a Christian point of view.

So we make our church too small when we allow any political party or person to usurp our responsibility to be gospel-bearing citizens. And we distort our mission when we attempt to make the story of Jesus Christ "fit" too neatly into the political landscape of life or to subordinate it to any merely human ideology—any.

Archbishop Hebda's letter to priests raises an issue that applies just as much to every other member of the Christian community. If we are responsible citizens, we cannot avoid selecting one candidate or another when we vote, but we cannot allow that decision to define us as disciples of Christ.

New Ministry

Pax Christi's Men's Group Offers Opportunities for Growth

The Pax Christi Men's Group was formed in July 2019 in response to input that was received during a breakfast gathering for men earlier in the year. Their mission is to provide an environment where men feel comfortable sharing their ideas, issues, and perspectives to enhance their own spiritual/faith development and growth. They have identified a number of objectives they seek to fulfill, which include:

- to provide a safe, comfortable environment for the open exchange of issues, ideas, and learning
- to be respectful of each other without any judgments
- to provide a forum to share techniques and ideas to improve our spiritual/faith growth and increased levels of personal performance
- to provide an environment where all discussions are kept CONFIDENTIAL, treated with RESPECT, and are SUPPORTIVE of our fellow man
- to develop trusted associates both within and outside of the group
- to enhance our spiritual and human growth opportunities
- to develop new friends and have fun!

Over the past year, the group has held a number of gatherings. Some have featured guest speakers, such as Fr. Mike Byron, Fr. Steve McMichael, and Deacon Charles Bobertz on topics relevant to men. Other gatherings have been centered around viewing and discussing a video featuring noted speakers such as Fr. Richard Rohr and Jordan Peterson. In an ideal gathering, the group sees great value in learning from the insights and experiences of one another, so time is generally set aside for small group conversation and faith-sharing.

Going forward, the group hopes to have their next gathering on Thursday, May 14, from 6:30-8:00pm. They are also looking at ways to equip smaller groups of men to gather together for faith sharing activities such as bible studies, service outings, prayer groups, retreats, etc., as they realize that in a parish community such as ours, a "one size fits all" model does not meet the various needs and stages of development in the spiritual journey that is found at Pax Christi.

It is the sincere desire of the Men's Ministry Core Team that more men will get involved with the various activities and opportunities that are offered in the future. The easiest way to get connected is to sign up for the group Flocknote updates on the parish website. Or, feel free to contact Scott Brazil, Director of Faith Formation, in the parish office.

Lifelong Faith Formation

Spiritual Growth Requires both Roots and New Perspectives

When I began to reflect on spiritual growth, one of the core values of Pax Christi, I realized that I felt somewhat unqualified to write about it. I felt that if my spirituality was a plant, it would look more like a seedling than a fully-grown crop; something not yet ready to be harvested and shared with others.

Last spring I participated in the sacrament of Confirmation and for the 13 years prior, I attended weekly faith formation classes. Currently I am an elementary school catechist, participant in high school faith formation events, and member of the Lifelong Faith Formation Council. Even after being confirmed, I have chosen to stay involved in faith formation because I truly believe in the opportunity it provides for growth. However, as I consider spirituality as a whole, I often feel like a bit of an amateur.

I am beginning to realize that this feeling may not be the result of a faulty catechesis or lack of experience with spirituality, but rather a flawed conceptualization of how this growth actually works. We tend to think of spiritual growth as a linear process. It is more convenient to accept the idea that certain practices will automatically and consistently produce certain consolations. It is less tidy to believe that spiritual insight, connection, and growth may not always happen in ways or times that we expect.

Any kind of growth, spiritual or botanic, requires some consistency. However, every plant and every person is different and needs different things depending on the season. We stay rooted through liturgy, community, and prayer, but necessary growth is found outside of our comfort zones. Learning to communicate, reflect, live, and pray in new ways is a practice of patience and this mindset is true spiritual growth. Rotating our perspectives and spiritual practices creates space for wisdom and insight.

Instead of dwelling on how early I am on the line of spiritual growth, or viewing Confirmation as a “graduation” from spiritual development, I am choosing to believe in a spirituality that is alive and evolving along with every other aspect of my life. I am embracing my spirituality as it is and choosing to pursue an attitude of openness when connecting with the divine. I am learning to view mystery as a beautiful depth of opportunity, because spiritual growth is a lifelong process.

Pax Christi Values

GOD-CENTERED ~ We hold God as the center of our daily lives and provide a place for spiritual rest and rejuvenation.

JUSTICE ~ We advocate for the marginalized and act as catalysts for systemic change.

INCLUSION ~ We build relationships and create an inclusive culture through our attitudes, actions, and activities.

SPIRITUAL GROWTH ~ We engage in a lifelong process of spiritual growth and continually learn how to live out our faith.

STEWARDSHIP ~ We acknowledge our God-given gifts and put them into action as we pray, serve, and share.

LAY LEADERSHIP ~ We co-lead and share in the responsibility of upholding the mission of the church.

Summer Fun for Middle School Youth

Summertime is just around the corner and middle-schoolers will be looking for things to do. Rather than sit inside all day at home, consider these other ideas for local summer fun!

Hike, fish, kayak, and bike. Eden Prairie is host to many amazing parks, and lots of great connected trails. One of our favorites is Staring Lake Park which features bike trails, a nature center, and several dock and shore areas for fishing.

Go on an ice cream tour by bike. Summer is the perfect time to try out all the best ice cream shops and stops in the area. Whether it's Dairy Queen, Culver's, Cold Stone, or Scoops, there is plenty of ice cream to be had nearby.

Check out local sporting events. Go to your friends sporting events and cheer them on! Or, eat a hot dog and drink some lemonade while you watch the Eden Prairie Cardinals or the Shakopee Indians play.

Go to free concerts. The Eden Prairie Community Band and Jazz on the Prairie perform throughout the summer, along with other city-sponsored music events. Hop on your bike and ride to the Staring Lake amphitheater to see some great local performances.

Go geocaching. Geocaching is an activity where you use GPS coordinates to find hidden "treasures." Often each geocache leads to another for hours of fun in the sun. Search for official geocaching sites on the internet and at your local parks offices.

Join in the fun at church with Just5Days (June 22-26) and Middle School Summer Service Week (July 20-24). All are welcome for these service, learning, and community-building opportunities. Look for registration details at www.paxchristi.com.

No matter what your plans are for this summer, make sure you make the most of it!

Summer Fun — Pax Christi Style!

Bible Camp at Pax Christi is known for many things: our outreach opportunities, our fun worship and praise music, our theme-based crafts and snacks, and our wacky games. What remains very clear throughout the years is the heart-beat of our camp—the Drama Team. The simply fabulous Pax Christi Drama Team is made up of youth in grades 6–12 who have a passion for sharing their faith through music, dance, and scripture stories. Our theme changes every year and the week of July 20–24 we will be sharing S'More Fun with Jesus.

Our drama team works (and plays) the week before camp in many, many hours of rehearsals. The senior high leaders offer such leadership skills as creativity, relationship-building, positivity, responsibility, and respect. They put together all the sets, costumes, and dance movements. They build faith through their role-modeling and encouragement.

Elizabeth Reardon (Lizzy) says, “It is the best feeling in the world seeing the team work together and build relationships.” Lizzy has been involved with camp since preschool and offers her time and talent every summer sharing her incredible choreography skills, allowing the scripture stories to come to life through music and dance.

The leaders grow in their own faith through prayer, stories, and outreach. We have gone to Feed My Starving Children, Open Arms, and VEAP, as well as making cards and gifts for our senior friends in the care centers.

The drama team is excited for this summer and welcomes all interested youth to go online to register. Lizzy encourages all to join, saying, “The group every year is slightly different, but there is a consistent energy.” There is no fee and we welcome all range of talents. If you want to work on the stage crew, play an instrument, or would love to bring our scripture stories to life, come join our team. Come be a part of our famous chant:

*Who Are We?
-The Pax Christi Bible Camp Drama Team
What are we going to do?
-Proclaim the Word of God
And when are we going to do it?
-Now!!*

Ice Cream Spots You Won't Want to Miss

As Pax Christi's self-proclaimed Resident Ice Cream Connoisseur, I recently asked the staff of Pax Christi for their recommendations for the best places around the Twin Cities to get their favorite frozen delight! Here's hoping we can all get out and enjoy some ice cream together soon! –Jesse Johnson, Youth Formation Minister

SEBASTIAN JOE'S

Minneapolis

Maura Schnorbach, Director of Development and Engagement

Favorite menu item: Hand-dipped waffle cone dipped in chocolate and Butterfinger with a scoop of homemade chocolate ice cream

It's a relaxed ice cream shop in the heart of Linden Hills, a perfect place to stop after a free concert at the Lake Harriet Bandshell!

NELSON'S ICE CREAM SHOPPE

Stillwater and St. Paul

Reneé Dignan, Elementary Youth Formation Minister

Favorite menu item: White chocolate raspberry truffle ice cream

This outdoor shop gives the biggest scoops of delicious ice cream ever, with more than 30 flavors!

EDINA CREAMERY

Edina

Sue Fier, Parish Financial Manager

Favorite menu item: Coconut chocolate chip ice cream

Old-fashioned ice cream shop that was a perfect treat after taking my kids to the Edina Aquatic Center.

PUMPHOUSE CREAMERY

Minneapolis

Jessie Johnson, Senior High Youth Formation Minister

Favorite menu item: Salty peanut butter with homemade chocolate chips

Barb, the owner, makes small batches that are chock full of thoughtfully-sourced ingredients and a whole lot of love!

FAT LORENZO'S

Minneapolis

Evan Bierer, Middle School Youth Formation Minister

Favorite menu item: Pistachio gelato

Great gelato in an awesome location right off Lake Nokomis on Cedar Avenue.

LICKS UNLIMITED

Excelsior

Andrea Ward, Administrative Assistant
Janell McBeain, Hospitality Coordinator

Andrea's favorite menu item: Mackinac Island Fudge

Janell's favorite menu item: Waffle cone with a double scoop of Heaps of Love and This Just Got Serious

Get your ice cream and take a walk down to the lake! There's always something new to try when you're feeling adventurous.

SONNY'S ICE CREAM

Minneapolis

Jean Thoresen, Director of Care and Support Ministry

Favorite menu item: Homemade salted caramel gelato

When I sit at one of the piazza tables on a hot summer day, I'm transported to a small Italian village, and all is good in the world.

LOST LAKE CREAMERY

Mound

Jane Schmitz, Parish Director

Favorite menu item: Anything with coffee flavor and caramel

It's local and friendly...accessible by car, by foot, by bike through the Dakota Trail, and a short walk from a few of the boat landings!

SCOOPS

Bloomington

Melissa Nault, Director of Communication Arts

Favorite menu item: Tropical Storm (vanilla with chunks of coconut, chocolate, and almonds)

I love Scoops for its small-town feel and large assortment of ice cream brands, including Bridgeman's and Sebastian Joe's!

Summer Opportunities

Help Fight Hunger in Our Community

Your summer volunteer efforts can help feed people in need around the corner or around the world. Whether you prefer the outdoors or indoors, working individually or with a group, there are a number of ways to volunteer this summer.

Giving Garden

If you enjoy spending time outside, consider putting on a pair of garden gloves and joining a committed group of amateur gardeners at the Giving Garden. Since 2012, the Giving Garden on the Pax Christi campus has been used to grow fresh produce to donate to the PROP community food shelf. Annually, more than 1,200 pounds of fresh vegetables are harvested to provide nutritious food to Eden Prairie and Chanhassen-area families.

The Giving Garden is truly a community effort, with volunteers helping to plan and prepare for the garden in April, plant seeds and seedlings in mid to late May, weed, water, pick, and deliver vegetables to PROP from June to September. Gardeners as young as age five accompanied by a parent are welcome, and anyone age 12 and older is welcome to volunteer independently or as part of a group. Regular work times are established each year with the goal of creating a community of gardeners. This summer there will be two, one-hour time slots scheduled each week beginning in May—one during the day, and one in the evening. Many volunteers are a part of the effort, with some giving their time every week and some more occasionally. Interested volunteers can contact Mary Beth Schleif at marybethschleif@gmail.com, or 952-947-5955.

Feed My Starving Children (FMSC)

FMSC has three permanent sites in Minnesota, including nearby Chanhassen, where anyone age five and older can help pack MannaPack™ meals for impoverished children around the world. The meals are formulated to reverse and prevent undernutrition so that children can thrive and meet their full potential. Volunteers pack meals during two-hour shifts, preceded by a 15-minute orientation. With handicap-accessible facilities and jobs for those who need to be seated, this is an opportunity for just about anyone. Children ages five to 18 can participate, as long as they are accompanied by an adult. High Schoolers can receive documentation for volunteer hours. FMSC does not require a minimum number of participants, so check out the volunteer tab on the FMSC website to register yourself, your family, or a group of friends. Because of the COVID-19 outbreak, we encourage you to check the FMSC website to see available reservation times during the coming months, along with updates. If you make a reservation and that packing session is canceled, you will receive an email notification. More information can be found on the website: FMSC.org.

Host a Food Drive

PROP invites you to host a food drive in your neighborhood or at a family gathering. Contact PROP to learn about their most needed items at 952-937-9120, or visit the website: www.propfood.org. Information about additional volunteer opportunities for people ages 14 and older is available on their website.

Operation: Pax Cares!

Our staff and Faith Formation families are teaming up with Pax Christi's Care and Support Ministry to brighten the days of our friends living at area senior care centers. We invite you to join us in sending cards and notes of well wishes. Below are the addresses and additional information. The centers will disinfect anything they receive as needed. Please include Pax Christi somewhere on the outside of the envelope so they know it's from us!

Brookdale Eden Prairie

Attn: Amber Sprague
7513 Mitchell Road
Eden Prairie, MN 55344

This center is all memory care, so this would be a good project for the little ones who can draw a cute picture or simple card and craft.

Castle Ridge

Whats going on....

“Night to Unite” at Pax Christi

SAVE THE DATE: Tuesday, August 4, 2020

Each year on the first Tuesday night in August, the City of Eden Prairie hosts “Night to Unite,” a summer evening dedicated to celebrating and strengthening the commitment to a safe community. As an opportunity for community outreach, Pax Christi will provide space for such a gathering of parishioners, neighbors, and friends. Get to know one another, catch up on things, play some games with the kids, and build a sense of community. This is also a great opportunity to give back by bringing a donation for PROP Food Shelf.

Please consider helping in the planning of this event. The City of Eden Prairie provides all the planning materials and Pax Christi has plenty of space. Contact Lisa Cox, Community Life Coordinator, at lcox@paxchristi.com.
